3.3.4. Sexual and reproductive health care services for students

1. Overview and Student Access

Shoolini University supports the sexual and reproductive health and well-being of its students through campus medical facilities, access to medical consultations, structured health education and preventive awareness programmes. The University Health Centre offers medical assessment, first aid, diagnostic support, referrals and ambulance services. In collaboration with Maharishi Markandeshwar Medical College & Hospital, Shoolini University has established arrangements for medical consultations on campus.

The University also offers the Sex Education elective (OE010), which covers reproductive anatomy, adolescent development, contraception, family planning, sexually transmitted infections, sexual health, relationships and reproductive rights. Throughout 2025, health-information programmes addressed HIV/AIDS prevention, breast-health awareness, screening and early detection.

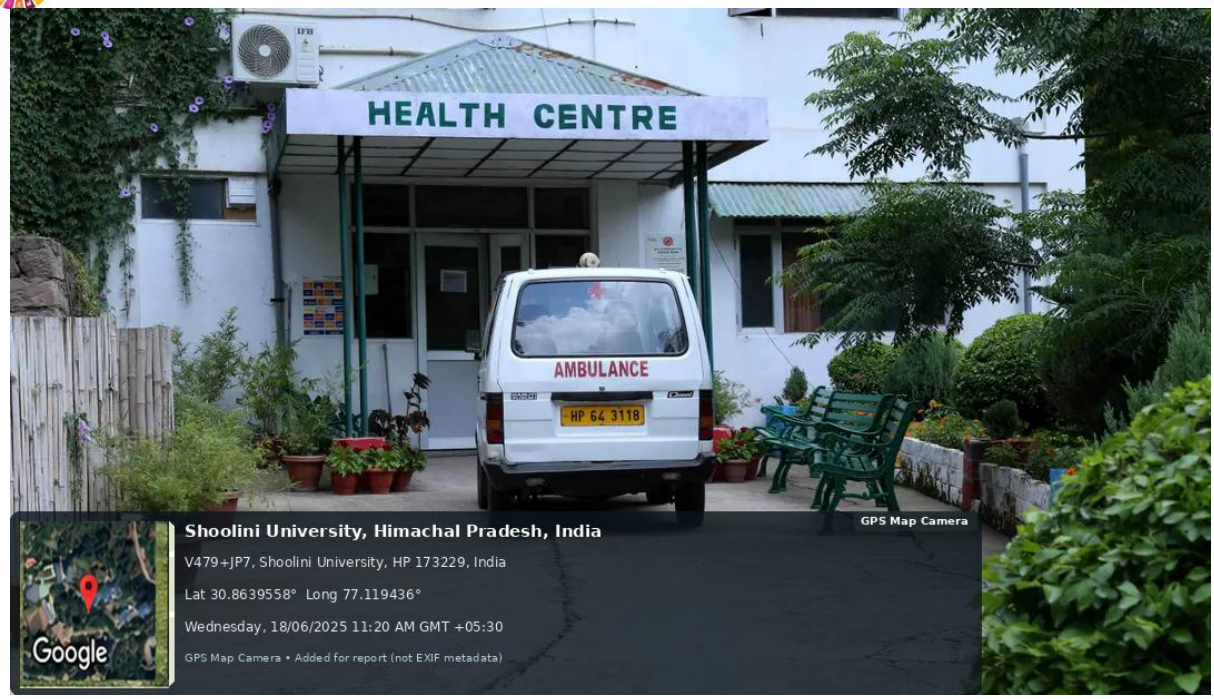

Public Availability of Services

Information on student healthcare and sex education is publicly available on the official Shoolini University website.

2. Medical Facilities and Clinical Services

Shoolini University provides a Health Centre with a consultation room, dispensary, dressing room and pathology laboratory. Available services include routine medical check-ups, basic laboratory investigations, first aid, medical referrals and 24-hour ambulance support. The facility is supported by medical and paramedical personnel.

6.1 Poster Making Competition – Art for Awareness

4 October 2025 | Vrindavan Garden, Shoolini University

Shoolini University organised a poster-making competition as part of Pink October to introduce breast-health awareness through creative student expression. Participants designed pink-themed illustrations highlighting early detection, breast self-examination, regular check-ups, family support and solidarity with people affected by breast cancer. The visual format encouraged discussion of a sensitive health topic in an accessible and engaging manner. Students from different departments contributed artwork, and faculty coordinators recognised the importance of using creative communication to make preventive-health information memorable. The programme involved 40 participants and six volunteers, extending the university's health-education campaign through student-led advocacy.

6.2 Pink October Volunteer Planning and Training

4 October 2025 | Cineplex, Shoolini University

Shoolini University conducted an in-person planning and volunteer-training meeting to prepare for coordinated Pink October awareness activities. The session established outreach priorities, assigned responsibilities, discussed activity schedules and prepared students for department-level communication. Volunteers received guidance on explaining breast cancer, early warning signs and the value of timely consultation with clarity, sensitivity and empathy. The meeting emphasised accurate, respectful and age-appropriate communication, as well as peer-to-peer engagement. This preparatory exercise helped organise subsequent classroom visits and community outreach as a structured health-awareness programme rather than isolated activities.

6.3 Think Pink – In-House Awareness

7–8 and 13–17 October 2025 | Shoolini University

Shoolini University implemented the 'Think Pink: Spreading Awareness, Inspiring Action' campaign through classroom-based sessions across departments. Trained student volunteers shared concise information on breast-health awareness, early detection, warning signs and preventive care, using posters and QR-linked learning resources. The #MyMotherMatters message encouraged students to take the information beyond campus and discuss breast health with family members. The sessions encouraged questions and interaction while presenting the central message that early detection can save lives. According to the event record, more than 50 volunteers participated and over 1,000 students were engaged, creating a broad platform for peer-led education.

6.4 Breast Cancer Awareness Walk and Nukkad Natak

13 October 2025 | Solan Mall Road and SILB

Shoolini University extended Pink October awareness into public spaces through a community walk and student-performed nukkad natak. Volunteers carried informative banners and placards along Solan Mall Road and engaged passersby on the importance of recognising early warning signs and seeking timely medical advice. Student performers presented relatable scenarios at Mall Road and the School of Life and Basic Sciences, addressing breast self-examination, stigma, family support and preventive-health behaviour. Combining an awareness walk with street theatre helped communicate healthcare information beyond conventional classroom settings. The university event record documents 75 volunteers and an estimated 350 community members reached.

6.5 Screen, Support, Survive – Breast Cancer Screening

14–15 October 2025 | Kalyan Bhawan, Solan

In collaboration with YouWeCan Foundation, Shoolini University organised a breast cancer screening initiative for women from the Solan community. Trained medical professionals conducted free screenings, while university volunteers supported participant registration, movement through the camp and health-awareness discussions. The team also distributed information on breast self-examination, warning signs and the importance of timely follow-up. The outreach combined access to professional screening with education and reassurance in a supportive setting, particularly for community members who may encounter barriers to preventive healthcare. The university's event record reports six volunteers and 150 women screened.

6.6 Pink Care Within – Campus Breast Cancer Screening

16 October 2025 | Shoolini University Health Centre

Shoolini University hosted a focused breast-health screening and awareness programme at its Health Centre for housekeeping and support staff, in collaboration with the YouWeCan Foundation. Medical professionals provided screenings with attention to privacy, comfort and individual support. Student volunteers and health educators discussed early symptoms, breast self-examination, misconceptions and the importance of preventive consultation. By focusing on employees who contribute to daily campus life, the initiative extended health awareness beyond the student population and reinforced inclusive access to preventive services within the university community. The 2025 event record documents six volunteers and 80 women screened.

6.7 Pink October External Awareness Outreach

29 October 2025 | Nauni and a nearby Degree College

Shoolini University conducted an external breast-health awareness programme at Nauni and a nearby degree college to engage students and surrounding communities. Volunteers led interactive discussions about early warning signs, preventive awareness, timely diagnosis and ways to communicate sensitive health information without stigma. A nukkad natak used everyday situations and accessible dialogue to address hesitation and misinformation surrounding breast cancer. Participants were encouraged to carry the awareness messages to families and community networks. The recorded outreach involved 20 volunteers and reached more than 1,000 students, broadening the reach of the university's Pink October programme beyond its campus.

6.8 World AIDS Day 2025 – HIV/AIDS Education

1 December 2025 | Shoolini University

Shoolini University observed World AIDS Day with student-led awareness activities focused on HIV transmission, prevention, early testing and respectful treatment of people living with HIV. Volunteers organised an interactive awareness stall with quizzes, games and educational boards to encourage participation and address common misunderstandings. An expert session by Dr Purnima offered guidance on prevention, safe practices, early detection and stigma reduction. A screening of the film 'Philadelphia' prompted reflection on discrimination, dignity and human rights. Together, the activities combined factual reproductive-health education with empathy and inclusive discussion. The event record reports 15 volunteers and engagement of more than 450 students.

7. Academic Evidence: Timetable, Syllabus and Student Records

Shoolini University recognizes the importance of sexual and reproductive health education in promoting awareness, responsible decision-making, and the overall well-being of students. To strengthen students' understanding of these essential aspects of health, the University has incorporated Sex Education (Course Code: OE010) into its academic curriculum as an elective course, supported by a structured syllabus and designated teaching timetable. The course carries 3 credits and covers important topics such as human reproductive anatomy and physiology, adolescent development, reproductive health, sexually transmitted infections including HIV/AIDS, contraception, family planning, sexual rights and responsibilities, and the prevention of sexual abuse. Through this academic initiative, Shoolini University aims to equip students with scientifically informed knowledge, encourage healthy attitudes, and promote awareness of safe and responsible practices. The University has also maintained academic records, including the course timetable, detailed syllabus, learning outcomes, and student assessment records, demonstrating the formal integration of sexual and reproductive health education into its teaching and learning framework.

Academic evidence- Time table for sex education subject

Course Name : Sex Education

Hours: 3 Credits: 3

Course Description:

Sex education is instruction on issues relating to human sexuality, including human sexual anatomy, sexual reproduction, sexual activity, reproductive health, emotional relations, reproductive rights and responsibilities, sexual abstinence, and birth control. Despite early inroads of school-based sex education, most of the information on sexual matters was obtained informally from friends and the media, and much of this information was deficient or dubious value, especially during the period following puberty when curiosity about sexual matters was the most acute. The outbreak of AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases has given a new sense of urgency to sex education.

Course Content:

Unit-A:

Introduction, Need for Sex education, Shape of Sex by Culture from tribal to industrial societies, sex and aging, sex and power, sex and family structure, Sex and religion, rape, gender identity, male and female menopause, and puberty rites.

Unit-B:

History of the rational and systematic investigation of sexual problem, Physical and psychological aspects of adolescent sexual development and activity, Sex disabilities, challenges and impact of disability on family, Relationships, Lifestyle and sexuality.

Unit-C:

Sex Anatomy & Physiology, Male & female genital organs, Sexual dysfunction, Sexually transmitted diseases: HIV/AIDS, Syphilis, Gonorrhea, Genital Herpes, Sexual behavior & variation, Adolescence, Abstinence.

Unit-D:

Sexual methods, Birth control, Family planning, Contraception, methods for contraception, Abortion, Male and Female homosexuality and Bisexuality, Gay, Lesbian, Judiciary & Policy for sex, Power, Sex in Geriatrics & Children, Sexual abuse (molestation) in child and adult.

Course Outcome:

1. Knowledge Outcome:

At the end of the course, the student should be able to:

- Know about the biology of genital organs.
- Knowledge about methods of safe sexual intercourse.
- Aware about the prevention of sexually transmitted diseases like AIDS.

2. Skill Outcome:

At the end of the course, the student should be able to:

- Aware about the need of sex education to people.
- Aware about the impact of sex related abuses on society.
- Learn about the impact of sex on daily life of human being.

Learn about the methods of contraception.
