Shoolini University collaborates with Bionest, University of Hyderabad

Shoolini University is teaming up with BioNest University of Hyderabad to bring advanced technology and startups to India's educational system. The Vice-Chancellor of Shoolini has a big dream: to create the largest Bio Incubator in North India right here at Shoolini. In the next three years, they want to support 100 bio startups, with the hope that one of them becomes a unicorn and five become Soonicorns. This partnership is all about promoting innovation and technology in the field of biosciences, which is an exciting development for the region's education system.
