

Date: - October 25, 2021

Declamation on LGBTQ+ rights

Shoolini university's Literature club, Lit-Witz in collaboration with Shades of Love, organised a declamation contest on right of LGBTQ+ community under the title: Unlabelled: My idea of identity. It was an offline event held on October 25, 2021 at Ratan Tata Hall, Shoolini University.

The declamation event was inaugurated by Head of English Department, Prof Manju Jaidka. She praised the efforts of the students and thanked the organisers to bring such sensitive topic in the mainstream discussion. She also emphasised the importance of being inclusive and use the platform in the university to be vocal about such issues. The event was open for all. Each participant enlightened the audience and were amazing in their own way

Ankit Thakur bagged the first position and the second prize was given to Tabo Mayo Nikki. Other dignitaries present in the event were Dr Saurabh Kulshrestha, Dr Purnima Bali, Dr Hemant and other faculty members. Ayushi Singh, Club head of Litwitz moderated the event. Events like Unlabelled helps the students to know that their voice matters and how much important it is to normalise the LGBTQ+ community in the world.

Student Participation: 56

Organized by: Shades of love and LitWitz Club

Event brochure for the competition

All participants during competition

Date: - September 25, 2021

Prop it up

In the world of social media, trending YouTube videos and streaming services, storytelling which used to be an important part of our lives, through our mothers and grandmothers' voices, has lost its essence and value.

To revive this tradition of storytelling and to boost the confidence of the students, PRCI-YCC (Public Relations Council of India-Young Communicators Club) - Shoolini University organised a virtual event "Prop it Up" on September 25, 2021 at 5pm. The event was hosted by Mitali Gupta, lead of the YCC PR Team and Deeksha Reddy, an enthusiastic YCC member. They began the event with some enlightening facts about the art of storytelling and how unique and special it is in building great bonds. Members of YCC were there to cheer on the participants, increasing their motivation. Several participants chose interesting and socially relevant topics like coping with stress, female hygiene, rape issues in the country, equality among the LGBTQ community and much more. All the participants narrated their stories gracefully and with utmost confidence. Some used props to enhance the quality of their stories and to create a better connect with the audience.

Poonam Nanda Ma'am, Dean of Student Welfare, Shoolini University, was the judge for this competition. She, too, shared how stories had played a beautiful role in her life. Saloni Thakur, a fellow participant, who shared a story of rape victims, stood first and the second position was bagged by Komal Dangi, who beautifully shared the ways of coping with stress, through a story.

The event was great fun and was enjoyed by one and all. It really made one realise the power of storytelling. Events like 'Prop it Up' help in boosting confidence and knowing what truly matters. Staying grounded, being confident and choosing ourselves, each day, every day, no matter what, is the ultimate mantra which shall remain forever.

Student Participation: - 36

Organized by: - PRCI YCC (Public Relations Council of India-Young Communicators Club)

Students narrating stories

Dean Student Welfare Ms Poonam Nanda encouraging the students